

About Us

Second Time Office Equipment recycles end-of-life electronic equipment. Our mission is to find residual value in this waste stream and facilitate re-use by others. When technology has completely passed the item by, rather than disposing of these materials in the landfill, the product is disassembled for further processing to recover the gold, silver, lead, cadmium, mercury, ferrous metal and plastic. Not only will these materials be recovered, but the environment will be saved.

Second Time Office equipment is proud to partner with all levels of government, industry, not for profit groups, scrap collectors, retailers and individuals who are concerned about the environment. However, being environmentally responsible has rewards too. Due to the nature of the materials we can help our partners receive financial rewards for doing their environmental duty.

Second Time Office equipment is pleased to have a Zero Discharge Policy, in effect. Zero discharge means that we have NO waste from our de-manufacturing processes.
